

Kuan-Yin Lin

• Current position:

- Attending Physician (Infectious Disease),
Department of Internal Medicine, National Taiwan University Hospital

• Specialty:

- Internal medicine
- Infectious diseases
- HIV infection

- Sexually transmitted diseases

• Education:

- PhD candidate, Institute of Epidemiology and Preventive Medicine, National Taiwan University
- Master of Public Health Degree Program, National Taiwan University
- MD, School of Medicine, Taipei Medical University

• Career and certification:

- Clinical Instructor, College of Medicine, National Taiwan University
- Attending Physician, Department of Medicine, National Taiwan University Hospital Jin-Shan Branch
- Fellowship, Division of Infectious Diseases,

National Taiwan University Hospital

• Reminder from Dr. Lin:

Infectious diseases are the health conditions caused by pathogens. They are common and may affect different parts of our body. Most of acute or chronic infectious diseases can be prevented by vaccination and treated by medicine. Please remember to see an infectious disease specialist for your medical problems!