

Chiao-Feng Cheng

•Current position:

- Attending Physician (Rheumatology),
Department of Internal Medicine, National Taiwan University Hospital.

•Specialty:

- Internal Medicine
- Rheumatology, immunology, and allergy

•Education:

- MD, School of Medicine, National Taiwan

University.

• Career and certification:

- Director, Division of Rheumatology, Immunology, and Allergy, Department of Internal Medicine, National Taiwan University Hospital, Yun-Lin Branch
- Attending Physician, Division of Rheumatology, Immunology, and Allergy, Department of Internal Medicine, National Taiwan University Hospital, Yun-Lin Branch
- Fellow, Division of Rheumatology, Immunology, and Allergy, Department of Internal Medicine, National Taiwan University Hospital
- Resident, Department of Internal Medicine, National Taiwan University Hospital

• Reminder from Dr. Cheng

The presentations of autoimmune diseases are highly variable and may involve any organs of humans. If you suspect that you have an autoimmune disease, you may consider consulting a rheumatologist for further evaluation. Once a rheumatologist confirms an autoimmune disease, regular follow-up in a clinic with medical control is necessary for keeping good health. If discomfort occurs while taking the medications, please discuss with your doctor to re-evaluate your medical condition and the pros and cons of using the medicines. The physician can therefore adjust the treatment plan for your specific case.