

Yung-Tsu Cho

• Current position:

- Attending Physician, Department of Dermatology, National Taiwan University Hospital.
- Adjunct Lecturer, Department of Dermatology, National Taiwan University College of Medicine.

• Specialty:

- Chronic urticaria
- Atopic dermatitis
- Cutaneous autoimmune diseases
- Autoimmune blistering diseases
- Severe cutaneous adverse reaction
- Cancer treatment-related skin eruptions

• Education:

- Ph.D., Graduate Institute of Pathology, National Taiwan University College of Medicine
- M.D., School of Medicine, National Taiwan University College of Medicine

• Career and certification:

- Adjunct attending physician, Department of Dermatology, Fu Jen Catholic University Hospital
- Adjunct attending physician, Department of

Dermatology, National Taiwan University
Hospital

- Resident, Department of Dermatology,
National Taiwan University Hospital

• Reminder from Dr. Cho:

Chronic urticaria and atopic dermatitis are common skin diseases. These bothersome disorders usually pose many discomforts to the patients and their family, resulting in huge physical and psychological stresses. However, these diseases can be well-controlled. An accurate attitude towards the diseases, continuously receiving the treatments, and being patient are the keys for a successful management.